Oklahoma Weekend Getaway

Looking for a weekend getaway in Oklahoma — or just passing through Oklahoma City? Let me introduce you to a true hidden gem. The Bradford House is a charming boutique hotel that delivers serious personality. Established in 2020 (yes, right as the world paused), this stylish property quickly built a loyal following — thanks in large part to its standout dining and beverage scene.

Step inside and you'll instantly feel the European-inspired, old-world vibe. It's warm, inviting, and effortlessly chic. Cozy up at the bar, strike up a conversation with the friendly bartenders, and settle into the relaxed atmosphere.

And the dining? Absolutely worth the visit. From indulgent crème brûlée French toast to elevated dishes like Confit Leeks with whipped smoked egg sauce, plus soups, charcuterie boards, and unforgettable club sandwiches — every bite feels thoughtfully crafted. Bonus: vegan and gluten-free options are available.

One important planning note: this property is not ADA accessible, as there are no elevators. Guests should keep this in mind when booking. Here's a glimpse from my most recent stay — a place that truly blends charm, comfort, and character. ✨
